PIEDMONT
ITALY

OVERVIEW

Seeming to appear out of nowhere about 10 years ago, brothers Enzo and Carlo Revello took over their father's nine-hectare estate and almost immediately became one of the hottest estates in La Morra. The brothers are also very close to Elio Altare, and who, along with Beppe Caviola, has worked with them since their decision to leave their previous careers for full-time winemaking work.

Varietals:

Nebbiolo
Barbera
Dolcetto

Total Acreage:

12.10 hectares

Average Production:

5,833 cases

Enzo works mainly in the cellar and Carlo in the vineyard. Since the release of their first Barolo (1993 vintage), which was a blend of fruit from all of their vineyard holdings, the brothers have released four cru bottlings, Giachini, Rocche dell'Annunziata, rare Conca and the Gattera, first released in 1999.

VINEYARD/CELLAR PRACTICES

Vine trellising system: Guyot

Cultivation methods in the vineyard: Grass is left between the vines

Harvest: Green Harvest: YES

ACCOLADES

"Revello's... are all elegant, aromatic, beautifully flavored offerings."

– Robert Parker, The Wine Advocate
